

OUR MISSION

To provide a social networking system for Front Range individuals and organizations to engage in the non-money-based exchange of services and resources.

OUR VISION

To create a social environment founded on a sharing economy that facilitates connection and cooperation; sharing of time, talent, skills and resources; encourages service to others; and fosters a healthy community capable of meeting many needs without money.

OUR CORE VALUES

ASSETS: Every individual has valuable skills, talents, and knowledge to share

RECIPROCITY: We gracefully serve others and gracefully receive the service of others

RESPONSIBILITY: The health and success of the community depends on each of us participating

RESPECT: Every individual is equally accepted, honored, and held accountable

COMMUNITY: By helping each other, we build social capital and develop strong bonds of friendship, trust, and support.

HOW IT WORKS

TimeBank Boulder connects Colorado Front Range residents to each other and to local community service organizations. We enable a time-based currency called TimeDollars ($TD). For each hour a member spends helping someone in the TimeBank Boulder community, they earn one $TD which they can then ‘spend’ having another TBB member help them. It’s simple, yet powerful – for individual members, the organization, and the larger community.

Members can also earn or spend $TD by sharing tools, practicing language skills together, or being part of one of our work teams and coming together with other members to tackle a larger project such as helping someone move, creating a garden, publicizing the timebank, planning a membership-wide event, or assisting one of the local non-profits who are organizational members.

In these ways, members share their time, talents, and resources within an organized, mutually-cooperative system designed to honor each member’s unique gifts and abilities regardless of age, education, background, or economic situation.

Where People Exchange
Skills and Resources
Instead of Cash

Are you dreaming of a soothing massage?

Can you help someone carry groceries?

Is there something you can teach?

Could you use help in your garden?

Can you drive someone somewhere?

Would you like to learn to cook or bake something new?

Do you need help with your computer?

Does your child need a babysitter or tutor?

Does something you own need altering or mending?

Everyone has unique talents and services others can use, whether they're highly technical, routine household chores, or transportation. Do not underestimate what you have to offer!

Here are a few of the things TBB members provide for each other:

Welcome to a new kind of community where we exchange time — not cash!

Time is our currency.

Our members swap skills and knowledge for credits called TimeDollars and then trade these credits for services from other members.

Everyone's time is valued equally, regardless of the skills offered. TimeBank Boulder is part of the hOurworld.org network, which connects over 664 time banks nationally and internationally.
